Mystery Shrouds Dual Killing

J. E. Norton Shaw, Prominent Attorney, Shoots His Wife to Death and Then Turns Shotgun Upon Himself.

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 27 (AP).—An answer was being sought today to the mystery surrounding the fatal shooting yesterday of Mrs. J. E. Norton Shaw of Mattapoisett by her husband, once famous Harvard football player, who then turned a shotgun upon himself.

Shaw, a prominent attorney of this city, was to have figured in a probate court hearing next Monday upon objections of the town of Acushnet to the allowance of his account as executor of the will of George T. Russell, wealthy resident.

Russell made the town chief beneficiary of a will that disposed of $105,000 but Shaw was reported to have set forth when the document was filed that because of the withdrawal a few days prior to Mr. Russell's death of $42,000 from a local bank all bequests could not be paid in full.

The withdrawal orders were signed by Mr. Russell. The major portion of the will was said to have gone to Mrs. Rebecca C. Holmes, an old sweetheart of Mr. Russell, and co-executor of the will, while a smaller part was paid to Mr. Shaw. Witnesses summoned to testify at the probate hearing included a physician and others who were to tell of Mr. Russell's alleged feeble condition of body and mind for three months before his death.

Shaw returned to his home from this city yesterday afternoon, changed his clothes and procured the gun with which he told his housekeeper he was going to kill a rat. Later he went to his wife's room and a minute after the discharge of the gun was heard.

The attorney cried to the housekeeper he had shot his wife and directed her to call a physician. While she was at the telephone Shaw ended his own life.

Free Ellenville Man in Newburgh

The two charges, issuing checks without having sufficient funds to meet them, against Alex Jacobowitz, 27, single, a cattle buyer of Ellenville, were dismissed by Recorder George B. Overhiser in police court this morning, says the Newburgh News of Friday. The recorder granted a motion for dismissal by the defendant's attorney, Jacob A. Decker.

The complainants were Samuel M. Chaplin and Claude V. Dunn of the Newburgh Auction Market, Chambers street. They were represented by Henry Grusky.

Jacobowitz was arrested in Gardiner on Monday by Detective Sergeant John Barton, on the two warrants. Arraigned on Tuesday morning, he was granted an adjournment until today. This morning, Mr. Grusky informed the court that the complainants' testimony was not available. Mr. Decker then made his motion. In granting it, Recorder Overhiser stated that he did not believe there was enough evidence to prove that Jacobowitz had passed the checks with intent to defraud.

The two checks amounted to $158.50. Both were drawn on the Walkill National Bank and dated Friday of this year. They were, the complainants asserted, given in payment of merchandise and goods purchased at an auction sale and returned under protest by the bank.

Clinic Friday for Problem Children

On Friday, December 3, a clinic for problem and backward children will be held at the Ulster County building, 74 John street, Kingston, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. Those presenting children to this clinic are advised as to how the child can be benefited. All children should be accompanied by someone who can give the examiner a good history of the child's development and habits. Appointments should be made in advance through Mrs. Mary Donovan, State Children Aid Association, 74 John street, Kingston.

1926 Christmas Seals on Sale

By Monday morning, practically all of the adult population of Ulster county, including the city of Kingston, will receive a letter with Tuberculosis Christmas Seals, like the accompanying picture, enclosed. This letter will ask the person or persons addressed to buy the enclosed seals and send the money to a given address, to be used locally and immediately.

In view of the increasing prevalence of the disease, few people will refuse to help, even if it means a little sacrifice on the part of each one. Help now may be the means a little later of saving some member of the individual's own family from the disease.

No one will call at homes to sell seals this year.

Napanoch Wants New Reservoir

Monday evening a meeting of Napanoch taxpayers was held in that village to consider a source of water supply for Napanoch. The village has been practically without water since last August. The present system has been in use for about nineteen years and was originally put in to accommodate Shanley's Hotel and the L. A. Hornbeck residence, the main pipe being only an inch and a quarter. From time to time others have been permitted to tap the line until there are now twenty-four businesses and residences using the water. It was stated at the meeting it would cost between $25,000 and $30,000 to enlarge the reservoir and put in a new system. A committee consisting of James Shanley, Earl West, John Cushman, Arker Keider and Herbert Daniels was appointed to consider a plan for a water supply. The committee will report at another meeting to be held December 6 in Napanoch.

Christmas Seals Badge of Health

"Fight Tuberculosis" is Message They Carry to Everybody, and Everybody is Urged to Aid in Fighting Plague by Buying the Seals.

A plea for the purchase of Christmas Seals was broadcast from Station WGY on Friday night by George J. Nelbach, of the state committee on tuberculosis and public health. This was one of the regular weekly health talks arranged by the State Department of Health.

"Within the next twenty-four hours," said Mr. Nelbach, "most persons now in this radio audience will have the opportunity to obtain the tiny, emblems of health which we all know as the Christmas Seals. The nineteenth annual sale of these seals, which opened today reaches every city, town and hamlet in this land. One billion, five hundred million of these little stickers are being released to carry far and wide in a stream of gay color the sign of the double-barred cross which means 'Fight Tuberculosis'."

"You may receive your seals by mail or get them at a booth in the largest stores of your town. You may secure them by investing in a health bond or at some gathering from a pretty girl who is wearing the double-barred cross in place of her heart upon her sleeve. A Boy Scout may offer you seals at your door or your lodge may subscribe for some."

Seal Reminders Everywhere

"Billboards, car cards, posters, your newspaper, your movie theatre—radio fans still have time for movies I believe—and certainly your golf club where news of a big Christmas Seal tournament has spread—all these will remind you that it is Christmas Seal time. And everywhere the seal for 1926 will look the same. Three jolly Christmas carollers bearing the fighting shield of the double-barred tuberculosis cross, and the greeting, 'Merry Christmas'."

"Thousands of people are alive today to say 'Merry Christmas' who would not be here if the fight against tuberculosis had not been going on intensively for nineteen years. Since 1907, when Christmas Seals were first sold, the proceeds have been used to help prevent and cure tuberculosis, especially aiding in the early discovery of cases when they are most easily cured. The death rate from this disease has fallen to half of what it then was. Yet 88 persons out of every 100,000 living population died last year in New York state from tuberculosis. Most of them were in the productive period of life—fathers and mothers with little children dependent upon them for care, protection and love. This is not the time to pause in the struggle to eliminate entirely such needless losses and suffering from our midst."

What Christmas Seal Means

"A Christmas Seal placed upon a letter you are sending tomorrow, a check you are drawing, a bill you are paying or a bundle you are mailing, early—that seal with its white shield and crimson double-barred cross—shows that you are enlisted in this long but winning fight against disease. The seal means that you are helping the fighting squads in your own town to clear your own community, perhaps your own home, of this scourge. Money paid for Christmas Seals is largely spent where they are bought. In the state of New York the sign of the seal tells that you are aiding to build up the health of children through the work of public health nurses, preventoria, summer camps and health education."

Bomb Damages Two Factories

Four Men in Building in Poughkeepsie Escape Injury—The Rev. Herbert A. Payne and a Girl Slightly Injured—Mysterious Explosion in Bridge City.

An explosion of dynamite or nitroglycerine partially wrecked building of the Gartex Company and the Mandeville Company at 2-14 Winnick avenue in Poughkeepsie at 2 o'clock this morning. The explosion, which was heard for several miles, shattered windows and other glassware in several buildings in the block, and caused slight injury to the Rev. Herbert A. Payne of the Ebenezer Baptist Church and Miss Vandemark of 13 Winnick avenue.

The damage to the Gartex building, which is of frame construction, consisted of shattered outside walls and a splintered roof, while a large hole was gouged in the northwest corner of the Mandeville building. The heavily constructed double window of the main floor while side walls and ceilings in places were cracked and splintered. The four men in the plant at the time of the explosion escaped injury.

The Rev. Mr. Payne, who resided near the plant, was thrown from his chair by the force of the explosion, suffering a bruised left arm, while the Vandemark girl, who is 14 years old, was thrown from her bed. She suffered from hysteria and it was several minutes before she could be quieted by members of her family.

What material was used for the explosion has not been ascertained, but a chemical expert advanced the theory that a hand grenade had been thrown at the building from a passing automobile.

The Poughkeepsie authorities are investigating the explosion.

U. S. Not Acting Role of Shylock

Buffalo, Nov. 27 (AP).—Denial that the United States is acting in the role of Shylock in demands for settlements from its World War debtors was made today by Representative Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, in an address before the Foreign Policy Association.

Himself a member of the American Debt Commission, which arranged the funding agreements of the war-time loans, Mr. Burton set forth with emphasis that he was irrevocably opposed to any proposal looking toward the cancellation of these obligations.

Describing the settlements as "generous," he said it was to be remembered that the loans were not paid out of an over-flowing treasury but that "the money was borrowed from the American people, and in a very important sense the federal treasury is merely a trustee."

Attorneys Engage In Free For All

Jury in Hall-Mills Case Is Sent From Court Room When Attorneys Become Involved In a Free-For-All Argument.

Courthouse, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 27 (AP).—While one lawyer was testifying in the Hall-Mills case today nearly all the other attorneys in the trial became involved in a free for all argument.

Charges and counter charges were made and at one stage the court sent the jury from the room to save the members from possible strokes of the legal lightning playing about the courtroom.

Timothy N. Pfeiffer, New York lawyer, was testifying as to efforts made by the defendants to clear the mystery of the slaying of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, September 14, 1922.

The defense sought to introduce copies of letters written by the witness, as attorney for Mrs. Hall, to Thomas F. McCran, attorney-general of New Jersey, in 1922 and 1923. The jury was excused while Clarence E. Case argued the competency of the testimony, after Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, had objected.

Simpson accused Case of making a "stump speech," the defense attorney heatedly appealing to the court for protection from the "personal remarks of state counsel."

The documents were thrown out and Pfeiffer continued his testimony, to bring about another clash a few minutes later when the witness told Simpson that Felix Di Martini "came nearer finding the guilty than you did."

When the prosecutor asked Pfeiffer the names of those Di Martini "turned up" as the real murderers, the lawyer replied that he would not name any one suspected by Di Martini unless ordered to do so by the court. The court did not order the names.

Case broke in to say that information gathered by the defense was made available to Attorney General McCran. Simpson charged that the offer was "not sincere" and another storm broke during which former Attorney General Robert H. McCarter suggested that the court was not hearing "what is going on."

Before Mr. Pfeiffer testified, Di Martini had been recalled at the request of the state to answer a question about letters received by Mr. Hall from George Sipe, seeking remuneration for the time lost in testifying at the early inquiries.

Di Martini said he saw Sipe only once and told him that Mrs. Hall could not give him any money as such action would be misconstrued. As the detective was about to leave the stand, the prosecutor said: "Of course, you wouldn't bribe any one?"

"I would not," Mr. Simpson, Di Martini shouted.

Mrs. Henry Carpenter testified briefly and without cross-examination that her husband, under indictment on a charge of participating in the slaying of the minister and choir singer, was driven to a train for New York Saturday morning after the slaying and was met at the train by her in the afternoon. The next day she said they motored to the shore and were together all day. State's witnesses have testified that Henry Carpenter on Saturday and Sunday carried "packages, papers and letters" from the Hall home.

CARS IN A COLLISION

ON ROAD AT MALDEN

Friday morning a Dodge touring car driven by Dr. Clarence Clark, a negro dentist of Kingston, and a Ford sedan of Frank Buono of Glasco came together on the Saugerties-Catskill road at Malden, says the Saugerties Post. Following the collision, which was caused by blinding headlights, the Saugerties police were called and at the request of Buono, Dr. Clark was arrested and arraigned before Police Justice Gardner in Saugerties. After some discussion the court freed Dr. Clark and the matter of damage to the cars was settled out of court. Both cars badly damaged were towed to Oscar Snyder's garage for repairs.

Tornado Death Toll Reaches 84

Injured From Texas To Virginia Over 300 and Property Damage Expected To Aggregate Over Million as Result of Whirling Tornadoes.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 27 (AP).—Southern communities which felt the deadly breath of whirling tornadoes Thursday and Friday were clearing away debris and tending their wounded today as the total of those killed by the wind's fury reached 84.

The injured from Texas to Virginia were more than 300 and property damage was expected to aggregate more than a million dollars.

Forces of the Red Cross were in action today in Arkansas where 47 died from the storm's violence. In Morehouse and Claiborne parishes of Louisiana, relief workers from Shreveport and Monroe were toiling to re-establish order where 16 had perished and much distress prevailed.

Rehabilitation went forward also in other states where the storm's tempest had wrought destruction in swirling through Arkansas Thursday night, striking in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee, then finishing its fatal course Friday at Portsmouth, Va.

Reports from the various storm-marked states today gave these estimates of known dead, in addition to a number missing:

Arkansas 47; Louisiana 16; Mississippi 10; Texas 1; Alabama 3; Southern Missouri 4 and Virginia 3.

Denies Klan Took Part in Dispute

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP).—The Associated Press today received a telegram from Calverton, Va., signed "H. W. Evans," denying statements relating to the Ku Klux Klan in connection with the dispute over expenditures in behalf of Arthur R. Gould, Republican candidate for the senate in Maine. Hiram W. Evans is the imperial wizard of the Klan.

The telegram said: "I have sent the following telegram to the secretary of state, August 10, 1926: 'The Associated Press today quotes Frederick W. Hinckley as saying I had conferred with the governor of Maine and Mr. DeForest Perkins concerning political emigration in your state. I have never met the governor of Maine and have never consulted with any one concerning political matters in Maine. Hence, the statement is entirely without foundation in fact. The governor will support this statement. I ask that you write it into the record.'"

For several weeks the destroyer of Pompeii has been active, giving vent to dull rumblings and spouting columns of smoke, with a flow of lava marking gradual collapse of the crater formed in 1906. Today's vigorous re-awakening is believed to have been aided by water which gathered within the crater during the recent heavy rains.

Experts here believe there is no danger of a violent eruption, but the populations of the surrounding towns are restive.

Charges Against Gould Dismissed

Republican Nominee Confident That Vindication Assured His Victory Over Redman—Governor Brewster Renews Attacks.

Augusta, Me., Nov. 27 (AP).—Arthur R. Gould, Republican nominee for the United States Senate, stood cleared today of charges of having exceeded the $1,500 limit placed by this state upon primary campaign expenses.

Gould, upon whose election next Monday depends Republican control of the senate, emerged last night from a hearing before Secretary of State Frank B. Hall confident that the dismissal of charges had vindicated him and assured his victory over Fulton J. Redman, Democratic nominee.

At the same time Daniel F. Field, chairman of the Republican State Committee, and Senator Frederick Hale voiced renewed belief in the integrity of Mr. Gould and predicted his election.

But Governor Ralph O. Brewster, whose open letter to Maine Republicans on Thursday night had repudiated Gould and exploded a bombshell in an already tense political situation, renewed his attacks upon his party's successful candidate in the primary.

He charged that "in all the welter of personal abuse there had been no denial that the law was deliberately and repeatedly violated by friends of the successful nominee."

Brewster's letter had charged it was a matter of general knowledge that considerable sums in excess of the legal allowance had been spent to insure Gould's triumph and bluntly contended the victor was in the position of a man receiving stolen goods.

KINGSTON, N. Y., NOV. 27, 1926.

It is estimated that this year's Thanksgiving dinners in America cost $175,000,000, and doubtless the statisticians had to resort to even more than the usual amount of guesswork before arriving at these figures.

Jacques Worth, the French couturier, authoritatively announces that the length of a woman's skirt shall be "two fingers below the knee." This is rather indefinite, so much depending on the thickness or spread of Jacques's fingers.

Royalty's taste in methods of travel varies. The Maharajah of Indore has been moving about so quietly—not doing a thing to put India "on the map"—that few know of his presence in this country. Doubtless he is having more real fun, too.

Some prophets do perceive the trend in advance. Twenty-five years ago William T. Stead, the great English editor, devoted a whole issue of his Review of Reviews to "an exposition of the theme that America would soon dominate the world."

In voting for the twelve outstanding heroes of human history the high school students of Europe and America turned down all the great conquerors and admitted only two military figures, Washington and Joan of Arc. Pacifists will be better pleased than army establishments.

Nature gradually gets rid of organs that are not used, and so the Cleveland Plain Dealer warns the American people that if they do not walk more their posterity will have only the rudiments of legs. But the average car-sitting American is not likely to lose much sleep over the misfortune he may bring upon his remote descendants.

Vassar girls have decided that bobbed hair is out of date, "common," even "pitiable," and are letting their hair grow as fast as they can. It is the old story. Just as soon as "everybody does it" those who wish to stand apart from the common herd proceed to do something else. And herein is basis for hope on the part of those who think that the national spectacle is now too largely composed of legs.

"DESTRUCTIVE AGENCIES."

If we were not already weary of being startled, we might sit up and take notice more alertly than usual at the news that "subversive radical and doubtful societies spread over America like a gigantic spider web," that over them all is "amassed the snake of Socialism," that their activities "intentionally corrupt our youth and undermine our faith," and that "first and last their existence constitutes a menace to American institutions." Such is the unvarnished announcement of a new publication called "What's What," according to the Baltimore Sun, which conservative newspaper goes on to say: "With such an introduction one takes up with horror the supplementary list of 103 organizations denounced as working night and day to bring our free-born people under the heel of Bolshevik Russia. The Yale Liberal Club, the Society of Friends, the United Brewery Workers of America, the Bryn Mawr Summer School, the National Consumers' League—here is a sample picked at random from the long roster of destructive agencies at work in our midst."

At first one is inclined to think that here is merely "100 per cent Americanism" gone mad. But the inclusion of the Consumers' League (opposed to the high tariff) indicates that "politics" is involved and shows how unbridled are the forces of the "patriotic" which "patriotic" employs in the pursuit of its purposes.

HOW TO CHECK LYCHING.

The most effective way in which to check lynchings is to keep records. This is known and acted upon promptly in all sections of the South, where, with the result of a decidedly low record of crime; but in the United States adequate punishment is less and less exact, with the result of vast increases in crime. There seems fair promise, however, that we are to learn that the way in which to check lynchings is to keep lynchings severely. Recently in sentencing to life imprisonment the leader of a Georgia lynching mob, Judge Reed of the Superior Court in Georgia, said:

Lynching is a menace to the rights and liberties of the American individual, and should be regarded so by every intelligent community. It is as much out of place in our modern civilization as would be the burning of witches. When a community makes public the fact that it will bend every effort to apprehend lynchings without loss of time, and mete out punishment to them, there will be few cases of lynching in that community.

Truth, well spoken in the presence of great need. This action and this announcement are the more salutary because Georgia has had the heaviest lynching record in recent decades of all the states with the single exception of Mississippi. When the example of Judge Reed is generally followed there will be few or no lynchings, except those that may be accomplished so secretly that their perpetrators can not be discovered.

WHERE THE BODY SAGS.

I am just wondering whether I would be allowed to use a word that may not be in the dictionary, but yet describes a condition that is very common.

The word is "saggingness." By this I mean the way folks sag in different parts of the body. There is first the sagging forward of the shoulders; then of the abdomen which carries the spine forward with it, then the knee, and finally the feet.

As has been mentioned before the sagging of the abdomen is responsible for the shoulders coming forward, round shoulders and hollow back often resulting therefrom. Tightening these abdominal muscles by the simple exercise of endeavoring to touch the toes, with knees straight, about twenty times, twice a day, would make a noticeable difference in three months time.

The sagging of the knees, and feet are usually due to the same cause, that is the slackness in the bow or ligament, that forms the arch of the foot.

If you examine the foot of a flat footed individual you will find that the long tendon running into the heel bone turns outward as it reaches the bone, instead of running straight down. Further, you will find that the inner side of the foot actually touches the floor, instead of being off the floor entirely. In fact the foot bulges inward, and the outer side of the foot which should curve outward, will actually curve inward following the inner side of the foot.

This falling inward of the foot naturally pulls the knee inward also, and so where the knee is painful on the inner side, not due to any known injury, the trouble can often be traced to a flat foot. Where the flat foot or flat feet are not very bad, the simple exercise of raising on the toes, and walking on the outside of the feet across the room a few times daily will "arch" them up again. In severe cases plaster casts of the feet are necessary, plaster made, which with the exercises will bring the arches up again.

Don't let yourself sag no matter how old you are. Your health, your outlook on life, can be influenced by the carriage of the body.

Today's Story in New York History

By
 Frederic A. Godcharles.
 (Copyright, 1926, by the Author)

James DeLancey, Chief Justice and Chief Executive of New York for Many Years, Born November 27, 1708.

James DeLancey, chief justice and lieutenant governor of the Province of New York, was born in New York city November 27, 1708.

He was the eldest son of Etienne and Anne Van Cortlandt DeLancey. The father was born in France, October 24, 1663; died in New York city, November 18, 1741. He was one of the Protestants compelled to flee from France, and had become a British subject when he landed in New York, June 7, 1686, and took the oath of allegiance. He brought with him a portion of the family jewels, which he sold for $300, became a merchant, and amassed a fortune of $100,000. He took a prominent part in public affairs, and was a member of the Assembly for twenty-four years. He gave the first town-clock to the city of New York, and, with his partner, imported and presented to the city the first fire engine that was ever brought into the Province. The DeLancey residence, built in 1700, became famous as France's Tavern.

The son, James, received an excellent education, and was graduated at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, England. He studied law at the Inner Temple, London, and after being admitted to practice returned to New York in 1735, and soon became prominent in public life.

He was a member of the council in 1729, and two years later was appointed second judge of the supreme court. He was the chief framer of the Montgomerie Charter of 1739, and in recognition of his services was presented with the freedom of the city, he being the first person upon whom that honor was conferred.

In 1733, on the removal of Chief Justice Lewis Morris, Judge DeLancey was appointed in his stead, and he retained the office the remainder of his life.

He was commissioned lieutenant governor by the king in October, 1747, but having become involved in a quarrel with Governor George Clinton, the latter withheld the commission and urged his removal as chief justice. The home government, however, refused to comply with this recommendation; but Governor Clinton maintained his hostile attitude, and it was only after he was superseded, that he finally delivered the delayed commission.

On June 19, 1754, Governor DeLancey convened and presided over the first congress ever held in America, a congress of delegates from all the colonies, held in Albany, by direction of the English government for the purpose of a common defense against the French, and to conciliate the Indians. It was at this congress that Benjamin Franklin proposed a plan for the union of the colonies by act of Parliament.

On October 31, 1754, Governor DeLancey granted a charter for King's (now Columbia) College. About the same time he attended a council of the governors of the different colonies, held at Alexandria, Virginia, to concert measures with General Edward Braddock against the French.

In September of the same year (1755) Sir Charles Hardy arrived and assumed the functions of governor. Lieutenant Governor DeLancey returning to the bench. Twenty-two months later, however, Sir Charles returned to active command in the British navy, and DeLancey again became chief executive of the Province, which he retained until his death, three years later.

Governor DeLancey was a man of great learning, and an eminent jurist; in public contest he was a master of the arts that win popularity, and as a ruler was equally the master of the more difficult art of retaining his office. Unfortunately he did not escape the criticisms of his contemporaries.

He managed the civil affairs of the Province with wisdom and energy from the suicide of Sir Danvers Osbourne, in 1753, until he own sudden death from apoplexy, July 30, 1760.

He was found by one of his children dying in his chair in his study, in which he had probably sat all night, as he frequently did, on account of chronic asthma. He had died the day before with a number of leading men, on Staten Island, where he indulged in excessive eating. He returned to his home in the Borey in the evening, and retired to his study, from which he never emerged alive.

There was an ostentatious funeral. His body was buried beneath the middle aisle of Trinity Church.

His eldest son, James, was a soldier in the French and Indian War, and a leader of the conservative party for many years.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

WINTER SERVICE SUNDAY.

On Sunday the winter service at the First Presbyterian Church will be musical in character. The choir will be assisted by Roland E. Heermance, baritone, of Saugerties, who will sing "The Endless Day," by Johnson. It being Advent Sunday as well as the Sunday following Thanksgiving, the anthems have been chosen with reference to the season. They will be Baker's "Arise Shine," "The Shepherd's I Will Feed My Flock." The instrumental solos and ballads will be taken by Mr. Martin and Mr. Heermance.

Miss Herriot, the organist and director of the choir, will play the Handel's concerto in A major. This concert is in two movements, the first "with more movement" opening with a minuet theme. A little later a chorale is introduced and its theme "In deepest need I cry to Thee" is heard several times on the vocal organ against variations in the minuet. Following a passage for pedal organ alone, the movement closes with the opening theme. The second movement, "Andante tranquillo" is an exquisite melody considered by some critics to be unequalled in organ literature. It is a beautiful ending to the service. Further recognition of the words of Handel's concerto will be shown in the trio "Lull Thy Sleep" from the oratorio "Moses." This will be sung by Miss Reed, Mrs. Baily and Mr. Martin.

The service begins at two and closes promptly at six o'clock.

PRIZE WINNERS AT ROSARY MASQUERADE.

The masquerade held under the auspices of the Holy Rosary Society of St. Mary's, Wednesday evening, November 24, was a most enjoyable social success. Over one hundred and fifty Rosarians and ladies of the parish joined in the merry making of the evening.

The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion and the costumes of the masqueraders were unique and pretty.

Pardee and Allen furnished the music for dancing and the intermingling of the older and younger folks added zest to the old fashioned dances.

Before unmasking at ten o'clock, judges awarded the following prizes: Miss Birdie Doyle, prettiest; Mrs. George Collier, comeliest; Mrs. William Brady, unknown; Mrs. Minnie Fitzpatrick, most old fashioned.

Delicious refreshments were served, after which games were enjoyed. Mrs. John Herriot winning the prize. Dancing then followed and when "Home Sweet Home" was heard, the merry-makers were reluctant to leave. Thanks were extended to the committee in charge by all and wishes expressed for another evening of pleasure in the near future.

There is a pedantry in manners, as in all arts and sciences; and some there is in trades. Pedantry is properly the over-rating any kind of knowledge we pretend to. And, if that kind of knowledge be a trifle in itself, the pedantry is the danger.—Swift.

Final Grid Game Here Sunday Will Be Titular Event

Middletown Wolves and Yellow Jackets Will Clash Sunday at Fair Grounds For Championship of Valley League.

The curtain will be lowered on the Yellow Jackets' prosperous football season on Sunday afternoon at the Fair Grounds gridiron as they buck up against the Middletown Wolves for the championship of the Hudson Valley League. The Middies are also contending for the valley title so it remains for the Kingstonians to rout the Wolves from the top of the list before the Yellow Jackets may claim the crown.

The Wolves have played five matches this season and have come out ahead in four of them. In the fifth match the Middies played a scoreless tie with the Cavalry grid team of West Point. Hudson fell before the powerful drives of the Wolves by a 26 to 0 score. Then when the Middletown outfit first met the Cavalry from West Point the game ended 12 to 6 for the Middies. Beacon gave the down river outfit little opposition as the title champion won 26 to 0. Middletown outclassed the Bridge City team as decisively as the Yellow Jackets were able to do for Poughkeepsie fell 36 to 0. In their second meeting, the West Point Cavalry held the Wolves 0 to 0.

In the eight contests that Manager Redhead's men have played this season the Yellow Jackets have turned out a highly commendable record. Five victories in a row the Kingstonians were able to score before the Westchester A. A. held them to a scoreless tie on November 14. Now with two more wins over the West Point Service and Bear Cat A. C., the Yellow Jackets have seven victories and one tie as a season's record.

The Yellow Jackets have not tested the strength of the Wolves this season and what the teams will do against each other Sunday afternoon remains a mystery. The Middies have nearly as enviable a record with Hudson Valley teams as the Kingstonians possess, consequently this final home struggle on Sunday should be a great game. The Middletown team will bring to Kingston a squad of eighteen men. The game will start at the usual time, 2:30.

The probable lineup:

Westfall	L. E.	Scheffel
McElroy	L. T.	McLane

Peterson	R. G.	Mahoney

Answering a protest against his naming William Lyon Phelps, in department in the December number of the magazine, says: "As for me, I will do my best to avoid puns. In fact, I cancelled a particularly horrible one which was just going to press in last month's issue. I was talking of paradoxes; for example, the Ninth Symphony written by a deaf man, 'Paradise Lost' by a blind man, and 'Pilgrim's Progress' by a Bunyan. I agree with critics that such things are undesirable; and how fortunate for concerned that I detected that one in time!"

Notre Dame Meets Carnegie Tech

At Pittsburgh in Contest of National Significance — Other Important Games Closing Eastern Football Season.

New York, Nov. 27 (AP).—Eastern football found the end of the sport trail today with half a dozen contests.

The struggle at Pittsburgh of Knute Rockne's boosters from Notre Dame, and Carnegie Tech, a powerful eleven that has come with a jangling rush in the closing weeks of the campaign, offered a contest of national significance. The Skibos, whipped twice in early games, smashed the powerful Pittsburgh and West Virginia machines in their latest start while Notre Dame has swept aside at least one representative of every section of the country but the far west in gaining a grip on the national championship.

New England witnesses the final college fracas of the season in the annual struggle of the bitter rivalries, Holy Cross and Boston College. The Worcester eleven, meeting the Boston molekin artists of Coach Frank Cavanaugh for the last time under his leadership, is conceded a chance to stage the final startling upset of a season that has seen favorites battered repeatedly. Boston College has but a single tie to smirch a proud record while Holy Cross bowed to Boston University after an early winning streak.

Out in the middle west, Georgetown's mighty eleven rings down the curtain on a successful season in an intercollegiate match with Detroit West Virginia Wesleyan ends a long campaign in an all state battle with Davis Elkins at Clarksburg and Bucknell hangs up the molekins for the year after combat with Dickinson.

While the east watches its own final games, the minds of fandom will be far away in Chicago. Colgate's tie with Brown, Thursday, dropped the eleven iron men from a challenging position in the regional race. The Middies whipped Colgate earlier in the season, and by trouncing Army today can jump not only to the eastern forefront; but can put forth a claim to national supremacy challenged only by Notre Dame, a claim that cannot be settled until Navy meets the Hoosier warriors next season.

The defeat of Army by Notre Dame left the Cadets with only regional honors as reward for victory today. Lafayette, only other undefeated and untied team in the east, did not face the rugged opposition that confronted the service eleven.

Chryslers Win 15 In a Row

The Chryslers won their fifteenth straight game Friday evening when they defeated the Maroon All-Stars at the Salvation Army Hall on North Front street, score 36 to 18. The game was fast for the first half but the Chryslers put in some fast pass work and gained a big lead by the time the final whistle blew. Bill Schilly led in the point getting with a total of 22 points on ten fields and two fouls. Maroon scored four points from the foul line and 12 through field baskets, getting practically all of the points for their team. The Chryslers again challenge the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church team and will play them on any court which the latter may choose.

Game Tonight at Epworth Hall

The Clinton Avenue Seniors will make their first appearance of the season on their home court this evening, meeting the Wurts Street Baptist quintet in Epworth Hall at 8 o'clock. The Clintons started their season on Thanksgiving Day with a win over the strong Walden quintet. The Methodist quintet will probably lineup with Slater and Boyce, forwards, McGinnis, center; Ballard and DeGraff, guards. There will be five other members of the squad on the sidelines ready to enter the fray if needed. A preliminary game will probably be played at 7:15.

Sport Briefs Of All Sorts

(By the Associated Press)

Tad Jones has several recommendations regarding changes in the football rules to make to the rules committee when it meets this winter. For one thing, the point on a try after touchdown should be made more difficult, the Yale mentor believes. "The present rule is an improvement over the old one, but the ball should be kicked from the 20 yard line," he said.

Jack Murrell, the Army back, who has forced his captain "Tiny" Hewitt, from the starting lineup in several games, has a unique reward in sight if he "runs wild" against Navy today. "I'll give you a kiss if you make a touchdown," his sister told him yesterday.

"If you make two, I'll give you a kiss myself," piped up Coach Bill Jones, who happened "to hear the promise."

Reports that Frank Cavanaugh, who resigned his coaching position at Boston College this week, will be in charge of the football squad of Fordham University next fall, are finding credence in well informed quarters. A meeting of Fordham athletic authorities will be held tomorrow. The reported resignation of Frank Gargan, present coach, has not been denied.

BAPTISTS BEATEN BY EMPLOYED BOYS ON Y COURT

The Employed Boys of the Y M C A defeated the Wurts Street Baptist on the "Y" court, Friday evening, by the score of 44 to 13. The game was fast as far as floor work was concerned but the Baptists did not have the "shooting eye" possessed by the boys from the "Y." Blase led the scorers on the winning team while Hubbard did the best shooting for the churchmen. The Employed Boys would like to book a game with the Chrysler team of this city.

Jack Chesbro Ends His Long Baseball Career

With the recent resignation of Happy Jack Chesbro as coach of the Shelburne Falls (Mass.) baseball club, the long diamond career of this former big league pitching star, who is a product of the Berkshire, appears to have been ended. Chesbro came out of retirement a year ago to take charge of the club which represents Shelburne Falls, a little town on the Mohawk Trail, and he turned out an aggregation which won the independent championship of western Massachusetts.

He again started off as coach of the club this season, but later decided to get away from the national game, which has occupied thirty years of his life.

Chesbro was rated as the leading pitcher in the country some twenty years or so ago when with the New York Highlanders. He got his start on the diamond in the Berkshires, having on the sand lots of North Adams, his home city.

Friendly Redheads at Notre Dame

One of the most unusual happenings in the history of football is that Coach Knute Rockne of Notre Dame has used two captains for his varsity team this fall. They are both "Redheads" and are capable of burning up the gridiron. Coach Rockne says that he needs them both as captains, and uses them as he thinks best when a game is scheduled. The photograph shows (left to right) the red-headed captains of Notre Dame: Tom Heardon and Gene Edwards.

Business First in This Baseball Era

"What's the difference between the player of today and the old time players?" was the question put to Grover Hartley, veteran catcher, recently.

"Well," replied Hartley, "the ball player of today is a far better business man than the ball player of yesterday. The ball player of today knows the value of Florida real estate, and he knows his value as a box-office attraction."

"And when it comes to signing 'is contract he lets the club owner know he's a business man as well as a ball player."

That's the difference between the ball player of today and yesterday. The old-time player was smart in a baseball way, but a poor business man.

Prize Fighting Jolted by German Publication

A savage attack on the growing favor which boxing enjoys in Germany is launched by the Tuerner, a monthly publication.

"Twelve thousand people gather in order to see two men in an angry fight draw each other's blood from the nose and the mouth and break each other's ribs," the periodical observes. "While German artists are staring this vilest of sports is so popular that money is always available for it. Just reflect, if every spectator were to buy a book what assistance this would mean to literature."

The article closes: "As long as it is possible for a down-and-out people, weighted down with war debts and distressed by dearth of homes, to patronize amusements of this sort, it isn't worth leading into brighter future."

Geneva's Great Success Is Due to Bo McMillan

The explanation of a 16-to-7 football victory by little Geneva college of Beaver Falls, Pa., over Harvard, and its hard-fought battle, which resulted in a 6-0 triumph for Cornell, lies in the personality and ability of Head Coach "Bo" McMillan. In the opinion of Rev. McLean M. Pearce, president of the Presbyterian institution.

Neither money nor scholastic favors nor laxity of college rules are permitted there, the New York World quotes Doctor Pearce as saying when informed of growing criticism of his school. He gave entire credit to McMillan.

"The thing our critics cannot understand," he said, "is that we have a coach who attracts athletes by his personality and trains them with a skill far beyond the ordinary. This and not money explains our success. We stand for scholarship, not athletics."

Petals Turn Back

A rather remarkable work of the hibernian, says Nature Magazine, is that often, after it has been plucked, the petals will turn back, gradually returning again to normal, even hours later. A slight protest, it would seem, against desecration.

Daughter Accompanies Fall

Mickey Walker has decided not to fight as a welterweight any more.

A decision the boxing fans of the country reached for him some months ago.

An amateur athlete can't be too careful. He is liable to endanger his amateur standing if he associates with any professionals except amateur sport promoters.

"The amateur athlete," says a famous track coach, "must have imagination than the pro." Which brings us around again to that old subject of expense accounts.

"There have been plenty of better halfbacks than Granger"—football historian. When the Galloping Ghost was in his heyday, many of his opponents couldn't see him, either.

Jimmy Hepburn, chief usher of the Yankee stadium, has been directing the seating at sporting events for nine years and estimates that he has supervised over 25,000,000 spectators.

A doctor in Kentucky says: "No college the size of Centre has any right to maintain a football team able to compete with Harvard." About there 11 students at Centre?

Bob Meusel muffed a ball. He had gone into Coombs' territory for a fly because a Coombs was on third and Coombs' arm "to one of the greatest in the league. So it was Meusel, they say, who "lost the series."

Although girls are banned from intercollegiate competition by the National Amateur Athletic Union, black letters are now awarded those who distinguish themselves in athletics.

Eighteen members of the Syracuse varsity football squad compete in other branches of sport as well. Among them are Capt. Vic Shannon, end, and Gutch Carr, fullback, both of whom have won their letters in football, basketball and baseball.

New York—Would Irving Berlin write a song to express the joy of fatherhood? Better than that, he'd dance a jig. And he did. As for the name, "Mary because it is such a lovely name and Ellen for her mother."

Warsaw—M. Bartel, minister of education, is tactful. He has refused the request of several deputies that he forbid short skirts in school. His reason is that he is not a connoisseur in the matter.

New York—For "personal and abiding" reasons Count Salm refused to have his picture taken with his son. He has seen the boy only 15 minutes in a year.

Caracas, Sicily—Gales that swept the snow-capped smoking peak of Mount Etna are to be forced to light the Mediterranean and help make it safe for navigation at night. The winds are to generate power for a gigantic searchlight.

New York—Sports are rich and research is poor in American colleges, Albert J. Beveridge notes. "In comparison to the sums spent upon instruction and athletics," he says, "the amount devoted to learning itself is pitifully small. Teachers are still underpaid, but the men who do original, first hand historical investigation actually impoverish themselves."

Philadelphia—Cornell Alumni have subscribed $200,000 to endow a chair in research work. The incumbents will be released from teaching duties in order to spend all their time in research. The announcement was made at Cornell Alumni convention here.

The Week in Wall Street

New York, Nov. 27 (P).—Despite occasional bear raids against stocks of companies whose current earnings and prospects are disappointing, both industrial and railroad stocks gained ground this week, the average of 20 leading industrial issues advancing to within less than two points of the record high established in September. Bond prices, responding to easier money rates, moved up to record high levels.

Trading in stocks was largely of a professional character, with the apparently taking little part in the week's proceedings. Powerful pools, apparently well supported with funds, had little difficulty in marking up their favorites, more than two score issues attaining new peak prices for the year, or longer, during the week. Baldwin touched 159, the highest price ever recorded, and Texas and Pacific land trust, which ordinarily changed hands in ten share lots, jumped 220 points to a record peak at 1150 in one day.

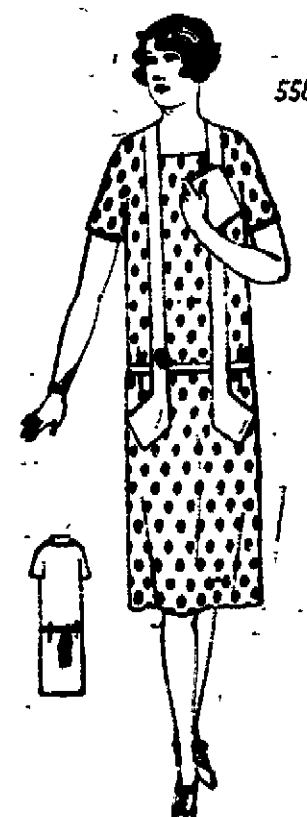

Despite a further falling off in mill operations, steel shares received a good support. While orders ordinarily fell off during this season of the year because of the desire of many manufacturers to keep their inventories as low as possible, there was an unusually heavy demand for railroad equipment. Although the Mexican crisis and record breaking crude production tended to dampen bullish enthusiasm for the oils, special buying took place in a few issues, particularly Phillips and General Asphalt.

Sugars continued to respond to higher commodity prices. Coppers showed little change, motors were mixed, accumulation of Chrysler, Studebaker and Mack Truck contrasting with the weakness of several minor automotive issues such as Hayes Wheel, Motor Wheel, Kelsey Wheel, Peerless and Paige Detroit which sank to new low levels.

Strong spots also developed in a number of foods, mercantiles, chemicals, amusements, farm implements, textiles and shippings. New York Canners and the Worthington Pump issues were weak on the omission of dividends. Electric Refrigerator dropped over 10 points below last week's high but recovered nearly half the loss.

Ralls were kept in check by the announcement of several wage increases to employees, and the delay in bringing forward the revised "Nickel Plate" merger plan. Special strength of Rock Island and Frisco Common was in anticipation of an early inauguration of dividends on the former.

DOES YOUR WATCH FAIL IN THIS IMPORTANT DUTY?

No matter how accurate your watch may be, it is stilling its job only partly if it is not in style. The modern watch is distinctive in shape, this in case, tastefully modern in design. It adds personal appearance just as surely as an out-of-date time piece detracts from it.

The most beautiful of all modern designs are to be found in cases by Wadsworth or Keystone fitted with Hamilton, Elgin, Waltham or Illinois movements.
